

Product Vending Machine

A customized vending machine designed for automated product dispensing and access control.

The system integrates structured storage with a clean and intuitive physical layout.

Design considerations focus on usability, security, and operational efficiency.

Developed to support reliable, unattended product distribution.

